

Horan's selfie hours before her undoing

“She is basically the human form of a goldfish”

Trouble in Paradise? Disaster strikes in Brazil

Female representation also know as “&” in JT&D has millionaire dreams just as basic as the rest of her. The photograph you see above was taken prior to the Rio Carnival fiasco when in a drunken stupor this air-head was conned out of the remainder of her money. One source exposed that the once-billionaire’s eyes were too focused on the sparkly dresses and fireworks to notice her lottery check immediatly swiped from her purse. Another confirmed “She is basically the human form of a goldfish”. This phenomena is not a shock for friends and family close to the victim. When asked to respond to what was going through your mind? Kayley has yet to speak on these matters. We’re not sure if this is because she knew better or just simply does not care.

This Man Wanted For Fraud!

This so called “comedian” has absolutely ruined the trust of the people once again. You may know him from his past statements of deceit like “Come check out my comedy show!” knowing full well that he isn’t even kind of funny! This year he has done it again with claims like “I promise I’m on the poster this time. Look, I’m hidden in the background or as small objects in each of the other members’ photos.” The absolute liar! I feel ashamed I am even requoting these malicious and dangerous statements but as a journalist it is my duty to report on such injustices. When asked for a comment, he autistically, I mean egotistically responded “Dude, what the hell! I literally started Jokes Thugs and Discord with you guys and write like half of the material. Why do you act like I’m not part of the group!”

We All Individually Win The Lottery

JT&D members have done it this time...read below to learn these miraculous stories

Hamilton comedian and fashion atheist Sam Barringer was all too willing to speak with our investigative team following the seemingly miraculous streak of lottery wins for the members of Joke Thugs and Discord. Barringer (pictured here living out a childhood fantasy of “Scrooge McDucking it”) wept upon opening the door to our team, apparently incredibly grateful to “have anyone willing to listen to [him] talk about Plato”. When pressed for further comment, Barringer expressed frustration that he “thought money was supposed to make people want to hang out with you, but buying love has been way harder than [he] expected”. When our journalism team pointed out that all the money in the world couldn’t make anyone respect people who majored in Philosophy, Barringer wept.

Greek humourist and original sentence generator Emiliros Tsiros (pictured here with his former vehicle) narrowly survived a car wreck last night. The crash occurred when the Joke Thugs and Discord member drove into a massive billboard promoting the theatrical re-release of Scott Pilgrim Vs. The World. Sources say Tsiros was likely distracted by the presence of characters from the film on the billboard and forgot to look where he was going. When asked for a comment on whether he would be safer in the future, Tsiros simply responded “The day you start stopping is the day you stop starting. #GoingForFour” before accelerating away at 247 km/h on a custom wheelchair equipped with a NOS button.
